Total climb	Highest point	Lowest point

A day ride to the highest point in Thailand, 2,565 m above sea level. Ride south to Chom Thong, then follow Road 1009 up through the national park past Wachirathan waterfall and the twin royal pagodas to the summit. It is a long steady climb and noticeably cold at the top, so bring a layer. The national park charges an entrance fee at the gate. Return the same way.

Fuel stops Chom Thong, before the park gate. None inside the national park.

Water crossings None
